EXPANDING SECURITY GRILLES

The Excalibur is an established expanding security grille, manufactured in the UK, providing security with ventilation. Ideal for use in the home, office or shop environment.

- Our discreet panels form a neat and unobtrusive “curtain” when not in use.
- Smooth and quiet operation is facilitated by nylon components which separate all steel moving parts.
- Each bespoke grille is manufactured to meet size requirements and can be finished in any of our standard colours.
- Galvanised steel is used to ensure all grilles remain rust-free and only require minimum maintenance.
- The bottom tracks can be hinged up or made removable to allow easier access for wheelchairs and pushchairs.
- Planning permission is rarely required.
- A Multipoint locking system is designed with the user’s protection in mind, offering maximum security, including anti-drill inserts and protection against saw attack. The key is only removable when the bolt is positively locked.
- The grilles are manufactured from an extruded aluminium framework with galvanised steel uprights and cross members, meaning they are both strong and attractive in appearance.

- Grilles can be powder coated in various colours, allowing the grilles to blend in or stand out from the environment.

Variable options

- Curtains can be folded to either side (Single Stack) or both sides (Double Stack).
- Fixed Panel: Panels can be manufactured in a fixed framework, with no lock.
- Flexible Stack: The grille can be opened from either side and can be moved to the left or right as required.
- Whole Stack to Hinge Aside: The curtain can be made to hinge 90 degrees, in order to allow maximum visibility and access.
